

The Association of American Indian Physicians Thirteenth Annual Patty Iron Cloud National Native American Youth Initiative

The Association of American Indian Physicians (AAIP) is now accepting applications for the 13th Annual Patty Iron Cloud National Native American Youth Initiative, which will be held on the George Washington University campus in Washington D.C., June 19 - 27, 2010. American Indian/Alaska Native (AI/AN) high school students, ages 16- 18, who have an interest in the health field and/or biomedical research are encouraged to apply. Selected high school students will receive a scholarship that covers their airfare, lodging, and most meals during the NNAYI program. NNAYI's curriculum is strategically designed to prepare high school students for admission to college and professional schools, as well as for careers in health and biomedical research.

AAIP is also recruiting adults, ages 21 and older, to serve as role models and chaperones to AI/AN high school students during the NNAYI program. Selected individuals will arrive in Washington D.C., on Friday, June 18, 2010 for their training to work with the high school students and to prepare for the high school students' arrival. AAIP will cover your airfare, lodging, meals, and a stipend will be provided upon completion of the program.

Feel free to share this information with other interested parties. Student application deadline is April 16, 2010. Applicants will be notified of the selection results during the week of May 10, 2010. Counselor application deadline is March 5, 2010. Applicants will be notified of the selection results by March 31, 2010. For more information and to access the on-line applications, visit the AAIP student website: <http://www.aaip.org/?page=AAIPStudents>.