

REFLECTING PAST AND PRESENT

Companion Exhibitions of Southeastern Indian Pottery

Contemporary Potters

March 1 – 31, 2012

KENTUCK

Opening Reception – March 1, 2012

Art Night at the Kentuck Arts Center

Closing Artist Reception – March 31, 2012

An exhibit of works by artists influenced by Southeastern Indian traditions

Art of the Ancients

March 2 – May 7, 2012

ALABAMA

Museum of Natural History

THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

Reception – March 30, 2012

An exhibit of late prehistoric and historic Southeastern Indian ceramics

Fusing Red Earth Artist Expo

Saturday, March 31, 2012

MOUNDVILLE
ARCHAEOLOGICAL PARK

A public exhibition day where artists exhibit, sell and demonstrate their work

Hosted by Moundville Archaeological Park, these exhibitions are a part of Fusing Red Earth: Moundville Pottery Gathering and Expo, a four day program for people interested in Southeastern Indian pottery, past and present. Potters, both native and non-native, doing traditional, contemporary or replication work, join scholars, museum professionals, students and others to share their knowledge of the art, technology and evolution of indigenous ceramics in the Southeast.

For more information on the entire program, call 205-371-8732 or email crcooper@crimson.ua.edu or visit the Moundville website at <http://moundville.ua.edu>.

This project is grant supported through the National Endowment for the Arts and University of Alabama Museums in partnership with the Kentuck Arts Center

ART WORKS.
arts.gov